

Artifact Text Panel: Storyboard

Write a title for your text panel here. Your title should make viewers want to read to learn more about your artifact.

Place a copy of your document here. (Cut and paste.) Make sure you list its permanent URL from the Library of Congress!

Tell the story of your artifact.

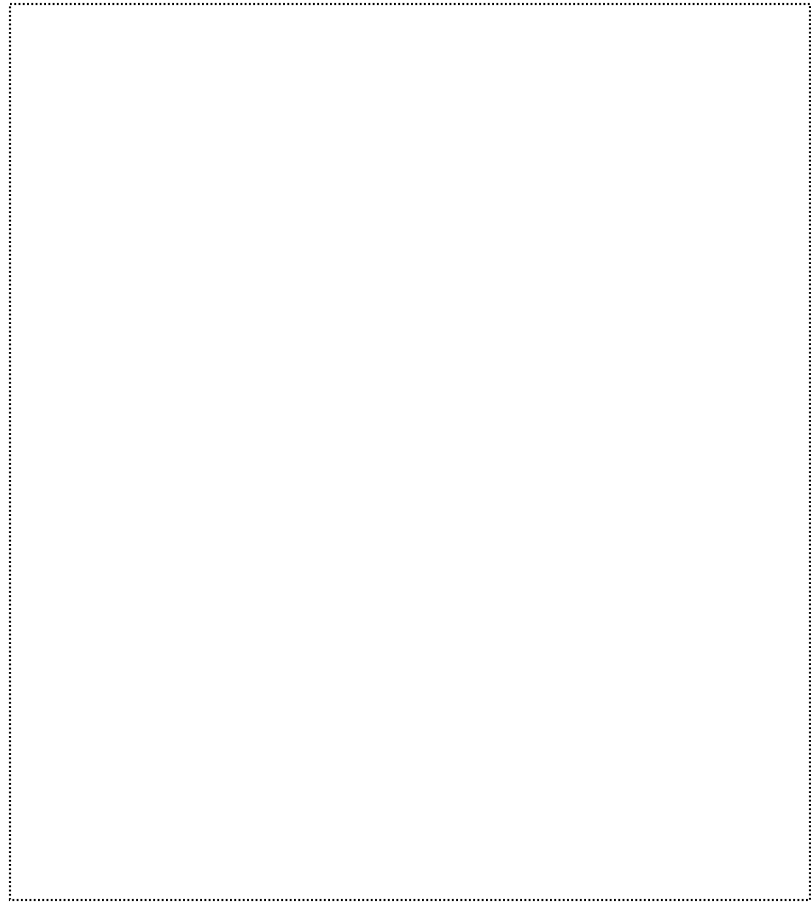

Invite the viewer to think about your artifact. The panel should be clear, informative, accurate, memorable, and brief. Use what you have learned to enrich the viewer's knowledge about the artifact and time period.

- Description
- What does it mean? What was its purpose?
- Why is it important?
- What can it tell us about people's lives?
- What questions remain unanswered?

Artifact Text Panel

Your document goes here.

Artifact Text Panel: Example

Ho For Kansas!

The Nicodemus Town Company was incorporated in 1877 by six black and two white Kansans. It was the oldest of about twenty towns established predominately for blacks in the West. After the Civil War there was a general exodus of blacks from the South. These migrants became known as "Exodusters" and the migration became known as the "Exoduster" movement. Some applied to be part of colonization projects to Liberia and locations outside the United States; others were willing to move north and west. Benjamin Singleton led an exodus of African Americans from various points in the South to Kansas.

<http://lcweb2.loc.gov/ammem/aahtml/exhibit/aopart5.html>

From Reconstruction and its Aftermath: Black Exodus, in The African American Odyssey exhibit at the Library of Congress.